

Spend the summer at Apple.

Learn from engineers who love technology as much as you do.

Do you enjoy building things with your hands? Are you constantly taking things apart to understand how they work? This summer, Apple is inviting a select group of high school students from across the country to attend a special Engineering Technology Camp at its global headquarters in Cupertino, California. The four-week program gives students a rare and exciting glimpse into the company as well as the opportunity to work in small groups and collaborate closely with Apple hardware engineers.

Dates

July 9 to August 3, 2018

Location

Apple Headquarters in Cupertino, California

Eligibility

Open to all high school sophomores and juniors with an interest in hardware technology.

Cost

Free. Apple will cover the cost of travel, accommodations and food for the duration of camp.

Applications available starting January 2018. Stay tuned for details.